To show character and feelings

I was shivering while I was opening the cheeky brown wooden door. When I opened it, a mountain of a man stood before my eyes. He was wearing a thick painted hat with a shining silver skull stuck on it. He had a wooden leg a hook hand and blood stains dripping down his jacket. His hair was tangled and curly but his beard was grizzly. He picked me up and threw me out of the door. I did a summersault in the air and landed flat on my belly.

I landed on this old grimy pirate ship with all the other pirates. My heart was coming out of my chest and my mouth was gaped open. He started accusing me of stealing his gold when I didn't. He said "Pirates pirates gather round we are going to discuss what we will do to him." One of them said "Throw him off the boat". The pirate said "Good and we will do that".
